JAP DEMANDS PRESAGE NORTH CHINA SEIZURE

Fulfillment of 14 Demands Would Be Tantamount to Nippon Rule.

TOKYO, May 29.—(AP)—Japanese military domination of all north China today apparently was foreshadowed in Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatches from Peiping, which said Japanese army officers there had demanded China's immediate settlement of 14 disputed points.

The list of demands was said to have been presented in connection with stern protests against alleged anti-Japanese movements in the Peiping and Tientsin regions and warnings that such activity must cease.

A war office spokesman here, shown the dispatch, said the demands described what had happened at Peiping, but the Rengo agency said the Chinese had been warned Japanese military forces in Manchuria might be forced to move south unless anti-Japanese sentiment were stifled.

(Dispatches from Shanghai quoted Rengo as saying Chinese authorities had been advised that "the Japanese army may be obliged to place Peiping and Tientsin within the demilitarized zone as most anti-Japanese activities in north China are originating in the two cities.")

It was officially announced here that Colonel Takashi Sakai, chief of the Japanese garrison at Tientsin, and Lieutenant Colonel Masao Takahashi, Japanese resident officer at Peiping, visited General Ho Ying-chin, China's war minister and chairman of the Peiping military committee, Wednesday.

A protest and warning were handed to General Ho. It was learned reliably, the contents of which was not divulged here.

Rengo's Peiping correspondent, however, said the Japanese had asserted another punitive expedition would be sent south from Manchuria unless anti-Japanese terrorism in north China ended quickly.

He said the 14 points, existence of which could not be confirmed officially either in Peiping or Tokyo, included these:

1. Immediate dismissal of General Yu Hsueh-chung, chairman of the provincial government at Hopei, whom the Japanese early this month accused of moving troops into the demilitarized zone.
2. Obtaining of Japanese consent before appointing principal Chinese officials in north China.
3. Abolition of the Peiping military committee.
4. Withdrawal of all Kuomintang (national government party) organizations from north China.
5. Indications that the Japanese army was ready to deal firmly with north China were strengthened by the fact that Lieutenant General Yoshikazu Umezu, commander of Japanese garrisons in north China, went to Manchuria and conferred with General Sanjuro Hara, Japanese war minister now touring Manchuria.
6. Afterward he entrusted for Peiping and there was much speculation as to what would follow his return here.

WAGNER, BLACK BILLS HELD KILLED BY COURT

Supreme Tribunal's Opinion Titled Dismal of Labor's Legislative Hopes.

(Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, May 29.—The supreme court has doomed the Wagner labor disputes and the Black 30-hour week bills, James A. Emery, chief counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, declared.

His opinion held the effect of the Schechter opinion is as clear in its implications as though cases arising under those bills were before the court. The foundation of the 30-hour bill rests upon an attempt to control exclusively local operation in production and employment, flatly repudiated by this decision.

Wagner bill rests upon the proposition that the federal government may control local labor disputes because they are alleged to "affect" or "threaten" to affect commerce. This attempt made by express definition in the bill. The Schechter opinion distinctly rejects and condemns the relation of such transactions to commerce and denies any control under the commerce power over employment relations wholly local in character.

PAY, HOURS HERE STICKING TO CODES

The Chamber of Commerce also will meet at the Athletic Club to take up the question of maintaining the code provisions on voluntary basis according to Wiley L. Moore, president of the chamber.

Three Chains Unchanged.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, Quality Service Stores and the Volunteer Stores announced that wages and hours would remain unchanged.

John Newman, president of Quality Service, stated that a canvass had been made of the store operators in the chain and that all had agreed to go on as before.

Carl Y. Blasing, general manager of King, Dobbis & Company, wholesalers supplying the Volunteer Stores, said that merchants in that chain were unanimous in their decision to uphold existing wage and hour scales and that no change was contemplated.

The Retail Food Dealers' Association has made a check with practically every member, and Malcolm E. Tucker Jr., secretary of the association, announced that nearly every independent food dealer in the city would adhere to the NRA wage scale.

Working hours may be slightly increased in isolated cases, but I believe that fully 98 per cent of the dealers will keep on just as they are.

Jacobs Wages Not Reduced.

The Jacobs drug stores will retain the same hours and the same wage scale, according to William Rich, vice president of the Jacobs Pharmacy Company. Neither will the drug chain engage in a price-cutting war unless forced to do so.

We hope to run our business on a profit basis, he said, and will do so unless prevented. Mr. Rich said: "We intend to sell our merchandise at the lowest possible prices consistent with a profitable business, but we will meet competition."

At the Lane Drug Stores, Inc., H. C. Naylor, the president, declared that it was the Lane policy to pay the highest wages to its employees.

Once has proved the better paid workers to be the best. He said that instead of reducing wages the company hoped to be able to pay salaries as business conditions improved.

Printing Situation Uncertain.

There is no immediate prospect of wages being cut by Foote & Davies, one of Atlanta's largest job printing concerns, although the industry is so highly competitive that some such action will become necessary if a price war develops, according to Earl Sanders, superintendent of the printing plant.

"There is no immediate prospect of wages being cut or working hours increased," Mr. Sanders said. "However, it is difficult to forecast just what will happen in the printing industry, inasmuch as it is so highly competitive."

The general's blue eyes sparkled excitedly as he told of an offer by an aircraft company to take him to Washington and New York by transport plane.

Originally, the general has asked permission of the Tennessee national guard to go up in one of its training ships. He was pronounced physically fit by physicians and the request was forwarded to Washington.

But then it bogged down, the general said, in "official red tape." "When I get to Washington," the general remarked, "I am going to find out why they wouldn't let me go up in an army plane."

EX-REDFERN SEARCHER DOUBTS STORY OF FIND

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 29.—(AP)—Jess Lawrence, who searched the Amazon in 1933 for Paul Redfern, missing aviator, today expressed the belief that the pilot perished in the jungle when his plane crashed and that reports he was living in Dutch Guiana as a "medicine man" are unfounded.

Tom Roche, a naturalized German-American, who with Lawrence joined the expedition seeking to rescue Redfern when he vanished during his attempted Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro flight, said in Colon, Panama, that he had talked with Redfern in an Indian village.

"In 1933 we ascended the Amazon river, starting from Belém, Brazil, and were gone eight months," said the Rochester cameraman. "The expedition ended prematurely when funds to carry it further were not forthcoming."

Considering that the point where we were searching is 1,600 miles south of Dutch Guiana and in view of the fact that Roche was responsible for both reports, cannot help but believe the report is entirely without foundation," said Lawrence.

Lawrence said that today was the first time he had talked of the rescue expedition which came to an end when the lost aviator's uncle, Richard S. Redfern, committed suicide here April 24, 1933.

"I have never said anything before of consideration for the family, whom I consider to have been cheated into investing money in a forlorn venture."

There is no doubt in my mind but that Redfern perished in the jungle when his plane crashed," Roche said, reaching this country as a stowaway and hitch-hiking here.

He convinced Mr. Redfern that his nephew was alive and got the financial backing of the family.

"His story that he talked with Redfern and saw him living as a medicine man with the natives is just an attempt to enlist support of the family for another fruitless expedition, I believe," Lawrence said.

STORY OF FINDING PAUL IS REITERATED BY ROCHE

COLON, Panama, May 29.—(AP)—Tom Roche, a naturalized German-American, today declared that Paul Redfern, aviator who vanished eight years ago on a flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, had crashed in a mountain on that flight and now lives as a "medicine man" with the Indians who nursed him back to health in Dutch Guiana.

Mr. Paul Redfern, in Cleveland, Ohio, was most skeptical and declared he hoped the Roche story had more truth in it than others current in the city.

Roche said the airman's legs and one arm were broken in the crash and that he was cared for by the Indians.

Redfern in the Indian village after hearing natives talk of him. Redfern identified himself, Roche said, and the crash. The converse, however, he said, was used by Redfern as a lure.

Redfern asked him, Roche said, to take a message to his father, Dr. Carl Redfern, of Washington, D. C., and his wife, Gertrude.

Roche offered to lead a rescue party to bring the flier over to the United States. Roche said he was in 55 degrees west longitude, 3 degrees north latitude. He said the spot could be reached by air, since the village was at the foot of a 4,000-foot mountain.

A man who gave his name as Roche was detained by Brazilian authorities at the time he was reported to have told a story of finding Redfern alive among the Indians of the Rio Madeira region. He was released by the police, he said, when he promised to leave the city.

YOUNG HITS BANK BILL, TELLS SOLONS TO QUIT

Business Too Apprehensive To Tackle Unemployment, He Declares.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—An extended assault on the administration's omnibus banking bill was capped by Owen D. Young today with a smiling admonition congress might best quicken recovery by stopping law-tinkering and going home.

Quietly but firmly, the financier-industrialist told the Glass senate banking subcommittee that business now is "too apprehensive" to "take up our unemployment" and restore prosperity.

More specifically, Young said the omnibus bill to center control of the nation's banking and credit policies in the federal reserve board threatened to retard recovery, postpone needed banking reforms, create a central bank by indirection and possibly dominate it with politics.

He testified as a director of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and as chairman of the General Electric Company.

Young refused to comment on the supreme court's NRA decision, but he told the Glass group that "business in durable goods has undoubtedly been reassured by the failure of the Patman bill."

"It is still apprehensive about the political domination of our central banking system, with the resulting threat to the commercial banking system."

TWO MOTORCYCLISTS INJURED IN COLLISION

James Brown, of 713 Highland avenue, and B. Miller, of a McFay avenue address, were injured yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with an automobile driven by A. H. Ragdale, of Chamblee, at North avenue and Juniper street.

Witnesses said, according to police reports, that Ragdale was turning left from North avenue into Juniper street when the accident occurred. Brown was said to have been driving the motorcycle with Miller as a passenger.

The conditions of Brown and Miller were reported as "fairly good" at St. Joseph's hospital where they were taken by an unidentified motorist. Ragdale was charged with reckless driving, according to police report.

STEINMETZ CONVICTED; MERCY RECOMMENDED

Maximum of 25-Year Sentences Faces Slayer of Bride, 17.

NEW YORK, May 29.—(AP)—Joseph L. Steinmetz, 22-year-old divinity student, was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree today for the hotel room slaying of his 17-year-old bride, former Hollywood (Cal.) high school girl.

He faces a maximum sentence of 25 years in prison, although the jury "strongly" recommended mercy. Steinmetz was accused of shooting his bride, the former Ruth Armstrong, and a priest, Rev. Joseph J. Leonard, when he found the former partly unclothed in the priest's room in the Knights of Columbus hotel last November. He was tried only for the death of his wife.

Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. set June 14 as the date for sentence. The penalty for manslaughter in the first degree is a sentence of from one to 20 years, which the court may suspend. There is, however, a mandatory sentence of five years because the crime was committed with a deadly weapon.

TEACHERS TO MAKE CURRICULUM STUDY IN SUMMER SCHOOL

Many teachers, principals and superintendents of schools in Georgia are preparing to attend summer sessions of higher institutions to study curriculum reorganization in public elementary and secondary schools, it was announced yesterday by L. M. Lester, director of the teacher training and certification division of the education department.

Two special courses, the fundamentals of curriculum-making and planning of curriculum materials for elementary or secondary grades are being offered this summer in curriculum laboratories at the following institutions:

Junior Colleges—Georgia Southwestern College, North Georgia College, West Georgia College and Young Harris College.

Colleges—Georgia State College for Women, Piedmont, and South Georgia Teachers' College.

Universities—University of Georgia, Emory University, Mercer and Oglethorpe.

A course also is offered at the Atlanta University and state summer school (Athens) for negroes.

The movement for curriculum revision in Georgia was launched in December, 1933, at a council representing all phases of education.

RUN OVER BY AUTO, BOY SLIGHTLY HURT

Frank Crawford, 5 son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Crawford, of 1153 Wade street, received a fracture of the leg yesterday afternoon when, according to police reports, he ran into the path of an automobile driven by Claude Armistead, of Clarksville, Ga.

He was treated at Grady hospital and allowed to go home. At the request of the boy's mother, police filed no charges against Armistead.

Liquor Store Petition Reaches 5,000 Names

The supplementary petition asking the city council to allow voters to decide whether Mayor Key shall be empowered to operate a liquor store had 5,000 names yesterday, half the number set by Key and his supporters. The petition was filed when they launched the drive to "bolster" council members who voted against permitting a referendum on the petition.

Key contended that the language of the proposed ordinance is not illegal and that the contention of city attorney Jack C. Savage and others that it is illegal "is granting at technicalities." The required number of registered voters already have signed the original petition. The supplementary one is for the purpose of showing council that Atlantans want to pass on the proposal.

PRISONER ASKS RIGHT TO MAKE PHOTOGRAPH

Frank Hames, held by city police for extradition to Alabama on a bank robbery charge, launched a more yesterday in Fulton superior court to compel Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant and A. Lamar Poole, chief of detectives, to permit him to make photographs of himself and another prisoner held on suspicion for the purpose of exhibiting the photographs in a habeas corpus proceeding pending before Judge Hugh M. Dorsey.

Hames' petition for a writ of habeas corpus was continued by Judge Dorsey after Hames had produced witnesses who testified he was in Atlanta at the time of the Alabama robbery and a bank cashier from Lauderdale county, Alabama, had identified him as a bank robber who fled May 8. The court continued the action in order that both sides might produce additional evidence. Hames resisted extradition but was released to Atlanta by Governor Talmadge.

Hames contends another man whose name is given as Jack Ross is held by city police on suspicion of robbery and that he bears a close facial resemblance. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy set a hearing on the petition seeking photographic privilege for Friday morning before Judge E. D. Thomas.

TRADE VOLUME HERE GAINS DURING WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Although the Secretary of Commerce today reported a 5 per cent decline in retail sales in Atlanta during the past week as compared to the previous week, he said the trade volume there was 10 per cent better than the national average. Wholesale trade, the secretary declared, followed along similar lines.

"Collections held up well," Mr. Roper explained, "and while bank clearings were off about 18 per cent from the previous week, they were slightly ahead of last year."

"Private buildings showed a sharp decline over the week near May 7, but there was still considerable improvement over last year."

"Real estate continued to show considerable activity, a notable feature being to private employment in Georgia, according to re-employment service officials. Private placements during this period have exceeded the national average."

PWA projects, but this replacement probably was due to seasonal demand for farm labor."

CONFERENCE SOUGHT ON KENNESAW FUND

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—A quick conference will be requested by Representative Tamm, democrat, Georgia, for adjustment of differences in the senate and house approved bills authorizing expenditure of $100,000 to establish a national memorial park on Kennesaw mountain.

Scene of bloody fighting in the War Between the States.

Tamm said he will ask Chairman McNamara, of the house military affairs, to seek elimination of the senate amendment lifting from the measure the power to acquire land by purchase.

Purposes of the legislation would be defeated, said the Georgian, by requiring that all land be donated. In addition to a park at the battlefield, the measure provides for marking the line of march of General Johnston, of the Confederacy, and Sherman, of the Union, from Dalton, Ga., to Atlanta.

Senator Russell sponsored the bill in the senate.

DR. DAFOE OBSERVES 52D ANNIVERSARY

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 29.—(UP)—His five proteges having successfully observed their first birthday, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, who brought them into the world and won fame by keeping them alive, celebrated his own fifty-second anniversary today.

Tonight in Callander, where he was born, the doctor will be guest of honor at a birthday party. It will be the first time in years that he has celebrated. This year the home folks are forcing a celebration upon him.

Last night in the Empire hotel the press gave the doctor a banquet in observance of his birthday and that of the quints.

Social Worker Dies.

Funeral services for Johnnie Louise Ford, for many years director of the girls' department of the Harlem Children's Aid Society and more recently connected with the social service activities of New York city, will be held here today. The negro social worker, who formerly lived here, died last Wednesday in New York.

LARGE HOLDERS SLOW IN FILING INTANGIBLES

Tax Assessors Claim Information on $50,000,000 Unreturned Property.

As May 31, the deadline for intangible returns on the agreed local assessment neared, Joe C. Little, senior tax assessor, announced yesterday large intangible holders are not filing their returns, and warned them to do so at once.

Practically the same condition was reported as prevailing at Fulton county courthouse, where similar low assessments have been agreed upon.

"The small intangible holder for the most part has filed his returns, but the scores who we know have large holdings are making only nominal returns," Little said. "We have information on at least $50,000,000 worth of such securities which have not yet been accounted for in the returns already filed."

"When the time limit expires we plan to put those not returned on the books and no quarter will be shown." C. H. Gullatt, member of the Fulton county board of tax assessors, was gratified at the large number of persons who filed yesterday, but at the same time joined Little in the assertion the county also has information which will put more than $50,000,000 on the tax records.

BODY TO BE NAMED FOR CENTENAL OBSERVANCE HERE

Mayor Key yesterday moved for a proper observance of the centennial of the founding of Atlanta next year, the brightest it has ever been. Back in the winter, business observers told us that 1935 would be a prosperous year for agriculture unless drought conditions developed. Today, with the great agricultural areas enjoying the best spring rains in many years, we know that the drought threat is at least temporarily removed.

"This fact, plus the prevalence of much higher prices for the commodities grown on the farm, and the widespread distribution of government benefit money among the farmers, can have only one meaning, so far as the southeast is concerned; greatly increased expenditures for all commodities, motor cars and trucks included."

"Business, industry and agriculture are shifting into high, and Chevrolet is shifting with them."

STATE FEES, LICENSES BRING IN $63,211.88

The secretary of state collected $63,211.88 in fees and licenses during 1934 and the total governmental cost for operation of agency divisions was $76,834.20, an audit filed with Governor Talmadge showed yesterday.

Revenue from various sources, other than state appropriations, exceeded the 1933 figure of $63,105.70, by $106.18.

In comparison, divisional expenses amounted to $85,323.86, or $8,489 more than expenditures last year.

Fees paid to examining board by barbers totaled $17,341.05 last year as compared with $15,774.15 for the previous year, and real estate fees aggregated $8,157.50, an increase of $7,740 for 1933.

The secretary of state, John B. Wilson, received $76,341.40 from the treasury, of which $35,961.40 was from special funds, and $20,380 from the general appropriation.

The secretary paid $62,820.40 into the treasury out of receipts.

EX-TRUSTY SENTENCED FOR AIDING JAIL BREAK

William Butler, negro, former trusty at the city jail, was given a two-year sentence yesterday by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey when he pleaded guilty to aiding the escape of three prisoners from the jail six weeks ago.

Butler admitted delivering smuggled hackaws to R. B. Haynie, J. C. McConnell, and W. A. Reeves who were then held on safekeeping charges and have since been given life sentences for a subsequent robbery in Tampa.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin yesterday held a hold order to Tampa authorities, asking that the three men be held for Fulton county in the event of pardon or parole.

CHEVROLET OFFICIALS TO MEET HERE TODAY

Eight Executives Will Discuss Sales Plans With Regional Staff.

To synchronize the entire Chevrolet organization—wholesale and retail—with the quickened pace so apparent in business, industry and agriculture, a group of eight Chevrolet Motor Company executives, headed by H. B. Hatch, assistant general sales manager, and representing every principal activity embraced by Chevrolet, are here today for a business conference with L. S. Costley, manager of the southeast region and the latter's regional sales staff.

Atlanta is the fourth stop in the course of a trip which will carry the group more than 3,000 miles through the eastern area.

In addition to Mr. Hatch, the visiting officials include: C. P. Fiskien, advertising manager; W. E. Fish, truck sales manager; C. W. Wood, national service director; J. W. Thompson, assistant parts and accessories merchandising manager; E. J. Hogan, manager business management department; and H. J. MacPeak, assistant in sales promotion department, and H. S. Mott, customer relations.

The entire day will be spent in meetings with regional personnel at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Each member of the group will present the company's plans for his particular department's activities through the summer months. The day time meeting will be followed by a dinner and an evening session, to which dealers from the Atlanta territory are invited.

Big Sales Volume.

The trip is especially significant in light of Chevrolet's sales performance last year, when, for the first time in its history, the company achieved a greater sales volume in the last six months than in the first. Sixty-five per cent of its year's sales were made after July 1, enabling Chevrolet to finish the year in the lead in both passenger cars and trucks, eclipsing all other builders for the sixth time in the last eight years.

"In times like today, more precedent is not a reliable guide," said Mr. Hatch, discussing the objectives of the present trip. "There is no precedent in economic history for the situation that has prevailed throughout the country these past few years. By ignoring precedent, insofar as it would have dictated conservative action, Chevrolet did a selling job in the last half of 1934 which could not possibly have been predicted, nor could it have been accomplished by less aggressive methods."

"Sizing up carefully the various factors in today's changing economic picture, Chevrolet became convinced that it was time to gear up our selling activity to the pace which the situation is setting. To do this, we are holding meetings with as many of our wholesale and retail personnel as possible, laying the situation before them, forcefully, and pointing out the possibilities for capitalizing on it."

Good News to Tell.

"Bad news always travels faster than good news. Word of the damage wrought by the drought in the south, recently, through dust storms, spread over the country from coast to coast in a very short period. Now that the drought has been lifted, the kind of news that restores confidence and stimulates buying—Chevrolet is eager to do its part in helping to spread that news."

"If some respects, the outlook for 1935 is the brightest it has ever been. Back in the winter, business observers told us that 1935 would be a prosperous year for agriculture unless drought conditions developed. Today, with the great agricultural areas enjoying the best spring rains in many years, we know that the drought threat is at least temporarily removed."

"This fact, plus the prevalence of much higher prices for the commodities grown on the farm, and the widespread distribution of government benefit money among the farmers, can have only one meaning, so far as the southeast is concerned; greatly increased expenditures for all commodities, motor cars and trucks included."

LIQUOR STORE TOPIC FOR JAYCEE LUNCH

Atlanta's proposed liquor store will be Mayor Key's subject in a speech before the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Continental room of Harvey's restaurant, from 12:05 to 1:15 o'clock today. The program will be broadcast over station WFTL from 12:45 to 1:15 o'clock.

Plans for participation in the national convention to be held at Columbus, Ohio, will be outlined by Everett G. Jackson, president.

Man's Property Seized To Pay Back Alimony

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—A writ of sequestration has been issued by Circuit Judge Victor H. Hemphill against Emmett Clay Townsend, of Tulsa, Okla., and the Sangamon county sheriff has been directed to seize and levy on five parcels of land here to satisfy alimony demands of $2,400 made by Townsend's former wife, Mrs. Lola Pearl Townsend, of Orlando, Fla.

The writ, issued yesterday, disclosed Townsend is in arrears on alimony at the rate of $40 per month since April, 1930, when he and his wife were divorced.

Townsend inherited the property from his father, who died last month.

BUDDY POPPY SALE TO OCCUPY STAGE IN ATLANTA TODAY

Atlanta will be "invaded" this morning—not by an enemy, but by an army devoted to the cause of welfare of veterans. The ammunition furnished the salesladies will be "Buddy" poppies, made in government hospitals by disabled veterans, and the sale is being conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

This is the fourteenth annual sale, which is conducted throughout the United States on National Memorial Day. Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp is the local sales chairman, assisted by committees from each V. F. W. post.

Each flower on sale tomorrow will bear a small green label, which designates it a genuine "Buddy" poppy. J. K. Finch, of the V. F. W., announced. Workers will also bear credentials. One cent of the money received from the sale of each poppy is used for the care of orphans of war veterans and the remainder is used entirely for relief work among the sick, disabled and needy veterans and their dependents.

W. & A. PROPERTY IS LEASED BY STATE

George B. Hamilton, state treasurer, announced yesterday that the state's Western and Atlantic Railroad hotel property at Chattanooga, had been leased for five years at combined rentals of $10,275 annually.

The Plaza hotel was leased to the Plaza Hotel Company, operated by Paul McQuiddy, at $6,075 a year, and the Eastern hotel was leased to P. C. Steele at $4,200 a year. Both operate the hotels at present under leasebacks from J. B. Pound, whose contract for a 50-year lease of the two hotels was canceled recently by Governor Talmadge.

Hamilton said that Pound was $30,000 in arrears in rents owed Georgia and said the law department had been instructed to collect from Pound.

LONGINO, KEY CONCUR ON NEW REVENUE PLAN

Concerted action to obtain supplementary revenues in the event of adoption of the 15-mill tax limitation was suggested yesterday by Governor Key and Longino, president of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia, and concurred in by Mayor Key, president of the Georgia Mayors' Association.

Longino proposed that the County Peace Officers' Association and the Georgia Education Association assist in mapping a program in which all the organizations could join and Key agreed.

The mayor said he would lay the matter before the mayors' group when that body meets June 12-13 at Albany.

2 BANDITS GET $3,000 FROM VIRGINIA BANK

FORK UNION, Va., May 29.—(AP)—Two unmasked gunmen today robbed the Fluvanna County bank at Fork Union and escaped with about $3,000 in cash.

The two bandits, with a machine gun and a pistol, held the cashier and assistant cashier, collected cash and currency from the counter, rifled the vault and escaped in a coupe.

Mrs. Bernice Thomas, the cashier, and her assistant, Mrs. Iva White, were the only two persons in the bank building when the men, described as about 30 years old, dashed in the door with the order, "Stick 'em up!"

LABOR REGULATIONS DELAY JOB SPENDING

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—Presidential approval of additional part relief labor regulations, determining among other things which activities are to be carried out under contract, was awaited today before spending of $528,093,600 in approved projects can get started.

A tentative draft of the regulations already has been prepared by Harry L. Hopkins, head of the works progress administration, but President Roosevelt has devoted his entire time to NRA since Monday's supreme court decision.

SERIES OF ROBBERIES CONFESSED BY YOUTH

A series of robberies of doctors' offices in the W. W. Orr Doctors' building over a period of nearly two months was believed cleared up yesterday when police said they had obtained a confession of the burglaries from Charles Brannon, a former elevator boy in the building. The thief had obtained approximately $500 during the course of his pilferings.

Brannon, the police reported, admitted having entered the offices of 10 doctors by using a pass key and taking currency which had been left in the rooms over night. Brannon was held on a charge of suspicion.

OUIDA SAYS MURDER WAS TO FREE LOVERS

Daughter of Slain Woman Recounts Intimacy With Accused Paramour.

LAUREL, Miss., May 29.—(AP)—The state of Mississippi today called upon neighbors of Mrs. Daisy Keeton, for whose death W. M. Carter, Laurel businessman and social leader, is on trial for his life, to corroborate testimony of Ouida Keeton, daughter of the slain woman, that Carter murdered her mother.

The state rested its case against Carter today.

After occupying the witness stand for a day and a half, Miss Keeton was excused shortly before noon with her story of the alleged murder unshaken by vigorous defense cross-examination.

Facing a life sentence herself for complicity in the crime with which Carter is charged, Ouida startled the courtroom with her bizarre testimony of alleged intimacy with Carter which she said extended over a long period of years and which she charged indirectly led to her mother's death. She testified that Carter shot her mother to death early the morning of January 20 "to give us more privileges."

The first neighbor to testify, W. T. Trigg, told of hearing three "muffled shots" about 1:30 a. m. January 20 as he returned to his home across the street from the Keeton residence after a moon hunt. Miss Keeton denied any knowledge of the mutilation of her mother's body and said she had no recollection of taking the less than the second spot north of Laurel where they were found.

Defense attorneys today announced that Carter would take the witness stand as the last defense witness to defend himself from the charge.

FIREMASTERS DEBATE ABOLISHED DEBT RULE

Alderman Hailey Charges
Firefighters Here Are Denied Credit.

Sanction of the Atlanta board of firemasters to any more by members of the department to adjudicate debt claims against them furnished material for a lengthy meeting of that body last night, but no definite action was taken.

The rule forcing departmental members to obtain permission of the board before appealing to courts in debt issues was abolished at a called meeting of the board several weeks ago and resulted in reinstatement of Assistant Chief W. A. Fain.

Alderman I. Gloor Hailey, backed by several other board members, launched a drive at the session to reenact the resented rule, but the board voted to postpone action until the next regular meeting in order that Mayor Key might have an opportunity to submit an adjustment of the matter.

Hailey charged that 95 per cent of the departmental members were being denied credit because of the fact that five per cent of the men failed to pay their just debts. Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon countered with an assertion that "the board should not be made a collection agency for anything a feeble-minded fireman might buy."

W. E. Morgan, fired December 19, 1934, for conduct unbecoming an officer, was reinstated. C. W. Parker was elected to the department.

Land Gift Refused, Too Many Republicans

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 29.—(P)—Chancellor T. L. Stewart today held invalid a special act of the legislature transferring ten square miles of the north corner of Polk county to McMinn.

The McMinn county democratic executive committee had protested the act claiming in a resolution it added "poor land, a lot of republican voters and a heavy debt" to McMinn.

'Cue Closes Meeting of Rhodes Managers

Rhodes Purdie, president of A. G. Rhodes & Son, is shown here being presented with a watch yesterday by W. R. Wilson, of the Rhodes Charleston, S. C., store, at a barbecue given all Rhodes furniture store managers at the Rhodes country estate, near Dahlonega. The watch was the gift of all the managers. The feast closed a three-day meeting here.

John Barrymore Arrives in Havana, Denies Wife's Non-Support Charges

HAVANA, May 29.—(P)—John Barrymore, star of the stage and screen, arrived today on his yacht, "Infanta," declared he had not previously known Dolores Costello had filed suit for divorce from him.

The actor displayed considerable nervousness as he chatted with reporters after the landing of the trim craft, aboard which were Miss Elaine Barrie, actress, and her mother.

Of his wife the 53-year-old actor said:

"It is strange that my wife claims non-support after I settled $85,000 on her three or four years ago. The only thing I can say, and that rather with a grain of salt, is that she's not supporting me when she makes such charges. I settled that $85,000 on her when the last baby was born."

Of Miss Barrie, he said:

"I know the fact that I have a young girl aboard causes talk, but it's a lot of bunk. She's a real artist, and I consider her a genuine 'find' in her profession, which is radio. She is going to work with me in radio skits for which I have a 30 weeks' contract. Every one of these skits calls for man and woman parts. A guy can't just stand up in front of the microphone by himself and act cute."

He laughed when he was told of Mrs. Barrymore's charges of excessive drinking and physical violence, but did not discuss them. He denied, however, that he had earned $350,000 in 1934.

"The only way a guy could make that much money," he said, "is with a saved-off shotgun."

Future plans

"I don't know when I will reach United States territory again," said Barrymore. "After a few days here, I will go to Haiti."

He said he expects to make a picture in England soon.

over a query on what might be expected from the administration to lighten out the angled affairs of NRA.

He laid studied emphasis upon his view that the answer to the question lay with the country, with business and industry and labor in every community.

The NRA decision produced the first question—and the last.

The president's remarks, for the most part cryptic and enigmatic, were delivered at his regular press conference. It had been announced he would not answer questions on NRA and once he refused. But when a reporter inquired as to the threatened coal strike he changed his intention.

That, he said, was much like many other problems created by the supreme court's invalidation of NRA. But, he continued, the real news did not lie in Washington, but throughout the cities, towns, and communities which make up the nation.

He mentioned a resolution adopted today by the cotton textile industry, urging continued observance of the code and added the question was what they could do if a small percentage of the industry departed from the standards established by that compact.

Repeatedly he emphasized the importance of what is happening outside Washington with a series of unanswered hypothetical questions on whether wages had been cut, hours lengthened, prices slashed, cut-throat tactics adopted.

Meanwhile, on the opposite side of assurances that many industrial units were sticking to the codes, NRA headquarters were receiving reports of code abandonments, wage slashes and price wars. One of the latest developments in New York, with cigarette, cosmetics and books affected.

With administration chiefs inspecting all major legislation in the light of the court's action against NRA, a republican leader, Senator Vandenberg, republican, Michigan, found a new twist to New Deal plans in the tribunal's opinion.

He introduced a resolution which, if adopted, would declare it the sense of the senate that the State Department should suspend all efforts to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements, holding the opinion had shown the authorization to do so to be an unlawful delegation of legislative power.

NRA officials gave some study to the situation for states with their own NRA laws and found that the court's opinion had greatly hampered their operation. Fourteen states have such laws. The feeling was that the court had limited them sharply to interstate matters, since otherwise they might be subject to charges of interfering with interstate commerce.

Speculation continued on the effect of the decision upon the New Deal's far-flung alphabetical agencies—especially AAA with a code structure essentially similar to that of NRA. Pending amendments were undergoing a thorough revision.

The talk of a constitutional amendment directed attention to a proposal for such a change introduced early in the session by Senator Costigan, democratic, Colorado. He plans to discuss it soon with President Roosevelt.

It would empower congress to regulate hours and conditions of labor and all production, industry, business trade and commerce, wiping out the historic line between commerce confined to the borders of a state and trade between two or more states.

However, although study was given the amendment idea, leaders generally felt that it could wait. The important thing now, so their thoughts ran, was to meet the immediate situation with a minimum of industrial dislocations.

MILL MEN AGREE TO OBSERVE CODE

that the industry should carry on as though the code still were in effect. Robert Amory, of the Nashua Manufacturing Company, who earlier had predicted that not more than 12-15 per cent of the industry would "stay off the reservation," said after the session that he was convinced his estimate was far too high.

"I have talked to everyone here," he said, "and to every mill man I have been able to reach elsewhere, and I have yet to find anyone who does not agree that wages and hours should remain unchanged."

Statutory Code Urged.

Ernest N. Hood, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, said a "desperate effort" would be made to continue existing conditions.

Amory expressed belief a national labor law, fixing a reasonable minimum wage and maximum work week for all industries might be feasible. Others suggested a national textile law, similar to the national railroad act.

George A. Sloan, who recently retired as head of the Cotton Textile Code Authority, recommended creation of strong state committees in the industry to stimulate and preserve co-operation of all manufacturers in maintaining the code conditions.

The confusion resulting from the supreme court decision caused the mill men to put aside, temporarily at least, their worries over the cotton processing tax and imports of low cost Japanese products.

The cotton textile delegation left the capital tonight with no other differences in prospect as developments warrant.

BIG STEEL COMPANIES COULD MAINTAIN HOURS, PAY

NEW YORK, May 29.—(UP)—Leaders of the nation's $5,000,000,000 steel industry tonight unanimously upheld the wage and hour principles of NRA and promised to adhere to them and to the fair trade practices set up under the codes, now defunct by supreme court decision.

Their adherence to NRA rules reflected the general tendency among the nation's largest industries. Reports coming to the United Press from all sections of the country indicated deviations from code practices in few instances and most of these in the so-called consumer industries.

Manufacturers to Meet.

The National Association of Manufacturers will hold a board meeting Tuesday when some definite policy on the future procedure of its members will be worked out.

Steel heads planning retention of present wage and hour schedules include William A. Irvin, president of United States Steel Corporation; Tom M. Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel Corporation; Charles R. Hook, president of American Rolling Mill Company; and Harry E. Shelden, president of Allegheny Steel Company.

Girdler said he was speaking for his company only. "It is my hope and my belief that the steel industry, as a whole, will stand solidly together for a continuance of the wage standards and the methods of fair competition developed under the steel code."

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, largest automobile company in the United States, said, "The highest wage scale is the best wage scale, providing it is not out of balance with other factors in the national economy."

In a statement issued tonight, Sloan hailed the supreme court decision as the most important contribution toward eliminating some of the obstructions to recovery. He was convinced there would be no material adjustments downward in the automobile industry. "Certainly, General Motors is not contemplating any such thing," he said.

S. Bayard Colgate, president of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, said in Jersey City, his employees would not suffer loss through the supreme court's decision. Present hour and wage schedules would be maintained, he said, and no one under 16 years of age would be employed.

Utilities Silent.

Harvey D. Gibson, president of Manufacturers' Trust Company, announced no changes were contemplated in salaries or working hours for the bank's staff of more than 2,600 persons.

No comment was forthcoming from the giant utility industry but it was believed it would not make any change at this time. Many of its leaders favor retention of present wage and hour schedules. A wholly erroneous report circulated last night that Wichita Gas Company had ordered an increase in working hours was traced today to a practical joker. The company has made no change and does not contemplate any, its officials said.

In the case of the automobile industry, it was believed that Sloan spoke for a majority of the leaders. The Automobile Code Authority has been silent although it is learned it favors retention of the principles of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

"As nearly as possible in conformity" with the invalidated NRA code was made here today in a resolution adopted by the bakers of Louisville and New Albany and Jeffersonville, two Indiana towns just across the Ohio river.

The bakers formed their own regional bakers' council to take over the work hitherto done by the Regional Code Authority for the baking industry and elected the same personnel that had served them on the NRA regional body.

ed or that the gains made by NRA would be destroyed.

He called this "unthinkable."

Johnson added that if new legislation could not be worked out, all of the policies of the New Deal would be smashed, but added he believed legislation could be framed which would make NRA stronger and more permanent.

Johnson said NRA now knew what practices of business were what and that it would be possible to work out a set of precise definitions of fair practice for congress which might be enacted.

It was unthinkable, Johnson said.

The committee will meet at 11 o'clock at Chairman Howell's farm, near Tucker. After the session Chairman Howell will entertain the entire committee, numbering 119 persons, at a barbecue.

Governor Talmadge said yesterday he did not intend to be present as he was not a member of the committee.

ITALY WILL MOBILIZE 1,000,000 MAN ARMY

New Call, Expected Soon, To Replace Troops Sent to Africa.

ROME, May 29.—(AP)—A communique announcing an Italian mobilization even greater than that of recent date will be issued within a few days, it was learned today.

Since Premier Mussolini said in his speech to the senate that he intended keeping between 800,000 and 900,000 men under arms, the new communique may announce the increase of this figure to 1,000,000. It was explained the mobilization communique refers both to Italy's East African forces and to the government's intention of replacing immediately in Italy all troops sent to Africa.

Chain Gang Sanctuary Deserted by Trusty

Archie F. Coleman, 28, trusty of the DeKalb county chain gang serving 10 to 20 years for robbery escaped yesterday from the Doraville rock crusher where he had been serving as water boy. It was his second escape from the same gang.

Coleman, sentenced September 20, 1932, from Fulton county, escaped from the gang October 19 of the same year. In April, 1934, he returned voluntarily saying he wished to serve out the rest of his sentence.

A short time later the authorities were notified Coleman was wanted by Alameda county, California, for trial on a charge of murder. California did not ask extradition. Authorities believe when Coleman satisfied himself his status was safe as a prisoner here, he decided to effect the present escape.

A Community of Distinctive Homes

Savannah, With New Industries, Lifts Herself Out of Depression

Georgia's most historic city, Savannah, sits atop the recovery heap in the Empire state, confident of the future and assured that at least $8,000,000 will be expended by large organizations within the next several months as the aftermath of a successful drive of that community for new business, new industry.

Major Thomas Gamble, of the port city, was in Atlanta yesterday and made the announcement while holding several conferences with federal officials in an attempt to take another $200,000 home for the purpose of erecting a modern abattoir, cold storage facilities and stock yards to effluinate the livestock industry of south Georgia.

In addition to the proposed abattoir with its allied facilities, Gamble said four announcements of major importance, assuring his city's economic rehabilitation, have been made within the last 10 days. He listed the announcements as follows:

Four Achievements.
1. Erection of a $4,000,000 manufacturing plant by the Union Bag &

Paper Corporation of New York on the Savannah harbor.

2. Decision of the Bethlehem Steel Company to establish Savannah as a distributing and warehouse point for that company in the southeast.

3. Action of General Mills in erecting huge warehouses and mixing plants for flour for distribution in the southeastern territory.

4. Acquisition by the city of the $700,000 Armstrong properties for use as a junior college for the municipality and as an additional educational advantage.

Due to Two Factors.

Major Gamble attributed success of the undertakings to two major factors: 1. The Savannah city government is in fine financial condition.

2. Co-operation of civic, commercial and industrial leaders in the various attempts to center attention of large and progressive interests on the port city, and the fine spirit of the people.

"Savannah is enthusiastic over the results of our efforts," the mayor said. "Our people are appreciative of the meaning of the accomplishments."

"The city itself has expended about $200,000 in insuring the location of the paper mill at Savannah. It means millions of dollars annually to the southeast and Georgia will benefit more than any other state."

"We thought it a good investment. The city provided the 450 acres of land necessary. The old Hermitage property and the old Diamond Match plant were given outright to the company by the Savannah Port Authority with the sanction of the Savannah board of aldermen."

Building to Begin Soon.

"Actual construction on the great paper plant is to begin within the next 30 days. It will take many months to complete the work. The paper plant will use wood pulp and it will be from Georgia pine for the most part. Bags and other craft products will be produced at first, but we are confident that newspaper will follow."

"In fact, we are convinced that location of the plant at Savannah means the beginning of the exodus of the paper manufacturing industry from the north and east and its transfer into the south. There is no limit to the possibilities."

"Our people are jubilant. The spirit of despair which enveloped most of the country did not strike Savannah. Our people met their obligations. There was not as much unemployment there as in other cities of the nation. We have weathered the depression and the four announcements within the past 10 days are an indication of what team work, confidence and perseverance can accomplish."

"Depression Over."

"Savannah can rightfully boast that the depression is over insofar as it is concerned."

"Our government is in fine condition. The city doesn't owe the banks a single cent. We pay our bills within 90 to 90 days from the time purchases are made and we have $160,000 in the bank. We have had the co-operation of the taxpayers, the confidence of the public, and we hope we have merited it."

BILL OF PARTICULARS SOUGHT IN WILL TEST

CARTHAGE, N. C., May 29.—(AP) Objectors to the will of Mrs. Eva Statler Davidson, who died of carbon monoxide poisoning in her Pinehurst garage last February, today were ordered to file a bill of particulars outlining their contentions.

The will left the bulk of her estate, estimated at $500,000, to her husband.

CANTON PICKETS AGREE TO DESIST IN COERCION

CANTON, Ohio, May 29.—(AP)—Strike leaders and steel plant officials reached a "peaceful picketing" agreement late today in Canton's turbulent steel labor dispute.

Representatives of the companies and unions, city and county officials and mediators went into conference shortly after police brought their gunning armed convoys.

into play for the first time since union steel workers went on strike Monday at the Berger Manufacturing Company plant.

Under the "peaceful picketing" agreement, strikers promised to cease coercing employees of the plants who desired to enter the mills and work.

The officials of the companies agreed to take guns and tear gas bombs from their special guards and to cease using them.

BONDS ARE FORFEITED IN SCOTTSBORO 'BRIBE'

Cases Against Two Gotham
Attorneys Not-pressed in Huntsville.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 29.—(AP) Bonds for two New York attorneys accused of attempting to bribe the principal witness in the "Scottsboro case" were ordered forfeited and the charges dropped here today to close another chapter in the four-year-old legal fight for the lives of nine negroes which has drawn international attention.

Sol Kone and Daniel Swift, accused of offering Mrs. Victoria Price $10,000, failed to appear when their cases were called, and the forfeiture order followed. Three Huntsville residents who signed bonds of $2,000 each for the attorneys, had nothing to say.

Mrs. Price is the state's star witness against the negroes accused of attacking her aboard a freight train in Jackson county March 25, 1931.

Kone and Swift were arrested in Nashville, Tenn., September 30, last year, on bribery warrants sworn out by Mrs. Price. Their arrest followed by one day the apprehension of J. W. Pearson, Birmingham, alleged "go-between" in the case. Pearson appeared in court here today, and his case was not-pressed.

At a preliminary hearing on the bribery charges, Mrs. Price testified that she was used as a basis for holding the two attorneys and Pearson for the grand jury.

All three were indicted on charges of bribery.

Headlines on Crash Stories Reveal Need of Constitution Insurance

"Student killed at Macon."
"Soldier dies, 5 hurt in Carrollton crash."
"Atlantian is killed, 4 hurt in crash."

These headlines appeared in The Constitution within the last few days. The story of one day's toll of the ever-growing accident wave here. The day before, several were injured; more will be killed or maimed today, and still others tomorrow.

You may be on the casualty list. Automobile accidents are no respecters of persons. They are never expected either by their unfortunate victims or by the equally unfortunate drivers who may be responsible for them.

Before another day has passed, the man who lives next door to you, the man who pulls up beside you at the stop sign, or even you, may be involved in an accident. They do not always happen to somebody else.

It is your solemn duty to yourself and to your family to protect yourself against the travel and pedestrian accident wave. Is there any reason why you or other subscribers to The Atlanta Constitution should not have this protection when it costs only 10 cents per month per policy?

Get your insurance now. The insurance offered you through The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill., which company has already paid Atlanta Constitution subscribers over $200,000. The insurance is offered to subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of the subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into the home at a small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta and Atlanta suburbs where we have carrier delivery. Out-of-town subscribers can have this insurance by paying $1 per policy per year in advance.

This insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution provides for the payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name and relationship of same to be insured.

Do your duty! Protect yourself and family today. Tomorrow may be too late!

CUTCLIFFE SENTENCE IS UPHOLD BY COURT
The 12-month chain gang sentence and $1,000 fine imposed last fall on Walter Cutcliffe, Atlanta lottery operator, in Fulton criminal court, was upheld by the state supreme court.

Cutcliffe received the fine and sentence from Judge Jesse M. Wood after he had been found guilty on a lottery charge. His arrest, which followed other similar offenses, came after officers had attempted to raid his home and been refused admittance without a search warrant. Officers said that they then divided, one squad waiting at the house and discovering a negro running from the basement with a box of lottery tickets, while another group went back to headquarters to obtain a warrant.

Cutcliffe is now facing additional lottery charges in Judge Wood's court which were booked after a wild chase through the city streets in which Cutcliffe's car collided with a light pole, lost a fender and finally threw a tire before he was captured by pursuing officers.

Boykin-McRae Libel Case Set for High Court Study

The double-barreled libel suit between Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and William G. McRae which recently reached the supreme court, yesterday was set on the calendar for review on June 17.

Boykin recovered a $10,000 judgment against McRae in his $300,000 cross-action to McRae's $100,000 libel suit, and McRae appealed to the court of appeals, the case subsequently going to the supreme court on application of Boykin after the court of appeals had reversed the case.

Trial of the suit in Fulton superior court before Judge Hugh M. Dorsey occupied three weeks, during which numerous witnesses were heard and great volumes of documentary evidence were introduced. Each litigant charged the other with libelous utterances during the race between the two for the solicitor-generalship.

Miss Carmichael Departs in June For Visit to Old World Capitals

By Sally Forth.

A FOUR-MONTH sojourn in Europe, where she will visit Old World capitals, is the wonderful graduation present given to Marjorie Carmichael by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carmichael. Marjorie received her degree on Thursday from Agnes Scott College. She sails on June 19 on the S. S. Manhattan for Paris, where she will join her cousin, Mrs. Joe Kircher. The latter will precede Marjorie to the French capital by several weeks.

The Georgia cousins will take an apartment in Paris, which will serve as their headquarters when they jaunt throughout Europe. They plan to return to the States in the fall in time for the opening of the winter season. Marjorie hasn't decided as yet to be listed among debutantes of the coming year. However, whatever course she decides upon, she will continue to occupy an undisputed place among the ranks of the younger set.

But back to her graduation array of lovely gifts from her wide circle of relatives and friends. One is especially interesting. It is one of the invitations to Agnes Scott commencement activities. She sent it to Wilbur Kurtz, the well-known artist, who added his artistic touch and returned it as "sweet girl graduate." With the gifted artistry which is his, he sketched as a background on the invitation a scene of the college. He encased it in a white and gold frame, and it will serve forever as a memento of the auspicious occasion.

And speaking of the auspicious occasion, Marjorie's entire family, and it's a large one, witnessed her graduation. Probably the most interested spectator was Earle, the faithful Carmichael servant. Earle, as friends of the Carmichaels know, has followed "Miss Marjorie" all through school, and Sally recalls how he used to take her to her first lessons, when she was in kindergarten under Miss Jennie Dargan.

THRILLS galore were experienced by Mrs. Boyd D. Quarles when she visited the national capital recently. Her most stirring moment came when President Roosevelt entered the senate to explain his veto of the Patman bonus bill. Mrs. Quarles was seated in the senate gallery, where hundreds of prominent citizens clamored for admittance. According to her, not even Alice Roosevelt Longworth's lofty loggionette as she leveled it at her illustrious cousin, Franklin D. Roosevelt, could mar the expectancy of that audience.

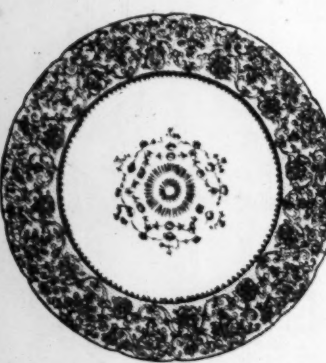

Commenting upon this great event, Mrs. Quarles told of the many celebrities, cabinet members and diplomats who assembled in the senate chamber to honor their president on this memorable day. Like others, the Atlantian concedes his speech to be the second best the president has ever made. It was worth a trip to Washington, says Mrs. Quarles, to see that magnificent smile of America's greatest humanitarian president when he was greeted by hundreds of Americans.

Another happy occasion for Mrs. Quarles was the brilliant party given by her kinsman, Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, and Mrs. Pittman at their estate, Ridge Lands. Guests included members of the Democratic Club of Washington. The series of picturesque terraces gracing the back of the

Mrs. George Ripley Jr., was elected president of Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs at the annual meeting held yesterday at the Athletic Club. Elected to serve with Mrs. Ripley were Mrs. W. F. Dykes, first vice president; Mrs. Nellie Nix Edwards, second vice president; Mrs. W. D. Williamson, third vice president; Mrs. I. S. Sterne, secretary; Mrs. Ed Almond, treasurer; Mrs. Wright Bryan, auditor; and Mrs. Francis Dwyer, parliamentarian.

Mrs. R. Murdoch Walker was chairman of the nominating committee, and Madeline E. Y. Carter, Norman Sharp, Charles Center and H. G. Hastings served on the committee. Mrs. Ripley was an officer in the federation before being elevated to the presidency. She was treasurer of the organization during the presidential regime of Mrs. Murdoch Walker, and is well-versed in federation principles and activities of city-wide interests.

The election of Mrs. Ripley to succeed Mrs. Oscar Palmour brings to the presidency of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs an executive as active who has had varied experience in the work of women's organizations. Having served as federation treasurer and as chairman of committees on the executive board, she is familiar with the aims and ideals of that group. Through her associations as vice president, also as recording secretary of the Fifth District, Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers, as president of R. L. Hop P. T. A. and president of North Fulton High School P. T. A., and activities in various social and civic activities in the city, she is well-versed in the work of women's organizations.

Mrs. Ripley has a broad acquaintance and a large following in Atlanta club circles. Mrs. Edward G. Warner, president of the Atlanta association, received the cup after having read a report which attracted wide comment and praise. Two features which influenced the judges in their decision were the number of scholarships secured for worthy students and the presentation of the Clark, Billie Stieghorst, Marie Richardson, Margaret Jane Sullivan, Virginia Lee, Louise Connell, Anne Crosswell, Mary Shepard, Mary Elizabeth Reers, Anne Eastman, Louise Connell, Gabrielle Mattox and Catharine Tift.

During Mrs. Warner's administration of the past two years, the five alumnae groups have registered 300 per cent in meetings and programs and through the efforts of Mrs. A. Worth Hobby, chairman of groups and third vice president, a scientific scale of units has been worked out whereby yearbooks, publicity, the raising of funds, educational activities and other points are considered systematically. Competition for the cup was keen among rival clubs in Georgia, throughout the south and in many other sections of the country where Wesleyan alumnae are active. Mrs. Charles J. Haden, national president, was the presiding officer at the alumnae gathering and after reports were heard from national officers and club representatives, Miss Jennie Lovell, alumnae secretary, presented the cup to Mrs. Warner for the Atlanta association. ## Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD
Problems of general interest to readers will be discussed in this column. All correspondence invited. Your name will be confidential. Write to Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: From the time we were 13 and were 21 this boy and I were sweethearts. I was I knew we should never marry because his family thought themselves superior to mine. He quit being so very angry that I had beat him to it. I was married to a very congenial man and we have fought the battles of life together. I was sure I had found the old sweetheart but I am mistaken. I don't think marriage to him would have been such a wonderful experience as it has been with my husband. I wonder how he looks, wonder how he will treat me if we do meet. What does this mean? Z.

Answer: It only means that you are indulging in a popular feminine fantasy—permitting your romantic fancies to run riot, conjuring up imaginary meetings with an old sweetheart for whom you exist only as a dim reality. For this is generally the case when a man meets his fate in the person of the girl he marries. The old love loses its flavor as the girl that is on the ground gives body to his dream of fair women.

Bored with matrimony or in a disagreement with his wife a man may on his hat and seeks diversion on the outside, either at the office or on the golf course or in a woman under the same circumstances goes to bed and dreams about an old love, regretting that she didn't marry him. Thinking how sweet and peaceful life might have been had she made the other choice. She rehashes old love scenes, reconstructs the old conditions that were rosy with romance and is sure that the man would reciprocate her feelings and join with her in crying out loud over the split milk. She can wallow in sentiment and solace herself with those foolish fancies. She is oblivious of the fact that the old sweetheart is not the same mind.

No woman ever completely forgets any man she has once loved and particularly her first love. Once she tucks him in her heart there he stays till time ends. Or, he may get covered by the memory of him is almost smothered. Yet when anything happens to open her heart she discovers his image buried deep, so deep it cannot be dug out.

There are a few men, excessively tender in their nature and faithful in their affections who have the same experience but this type doesn't allow critical families to separate them from their sweethearts. They go through fire and water to get their girls and marry them.

Most of us superimpose our own ideas and points of view on other people. Simply enough, because the personal experience carries greater weight than hearsay, what we feel carries greater weight than what we read. Consequently, the woman who never quite forgets the man she has once loved is slow about admitting to herself that every man who has made love to her will not love her to the end. She gets immeasurable comfort out of this foolish fancy. It is a little more when she is low in spirits. It diverts her when she is bored. It bolsters her pride enormously and doesn't do the men any harm. Would anybody deny her this? CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: When I was 35 my parents moved to a new town and not being very good at making contacts with strangers I led a very lonely life. A widower who lived next door asked me to marry him and help him take care of his growing family. Each of us recognized it as a business proposition and had no illusions concerning love. Five years have passed and my husband has become infatuated with a young lady who works in his office. He wants me to divorce him and let him marry her. While he has never deeply loved me and I have fallen deeply in love with him and feel that I can't go through with the program he suggests. Won't you advise me? DESPERATE.

Answer: Sometimes a woman can appeal to a man's sense of fairness in such a way that he will behave decently toward her, even though he does not love her. Sometimes his sense of responsibility toward his children will restrain him from doing an unworthy trick. Cannot you appeal to him on both scores, persuade him to wait a year or two before he does anything so cruel as divorcing a woman who loves him and has done a good part by him and his little ones? Perhaps the feeling for the young woman in his office is nothing more than infatuation and if this is true, it will likely pass.

Here is the trouble with the business marriage. It may look very so alluring to a lonely spinster but it doesn't carry any guarantee to protect her from heartache. Often, however, she or the husband meets some other person who lights the love flame and then

Don't be hysterical and weepy. Try to approach the matter in such a calm and reasonable way that your husband will be impressed with your arguments and will be swayed by the logic and good sense of your position. Make your home as pleasant as you can in spite of your anguish so he won't be afraid to come home and share all things try to endear yourself to the children so he will hesitate on their account to insist on divorce. ## Mrs. Luther Randall Is Luncheon Hostess

An interesting event of Wednesday was the luncheon at which Mrs. Luther Randall was hostess at the Atlanta Athletic Club. The luncheon was a complimentary gesture to her sister, Mrs. Alva P. McCarty, a bride of a few weeks, and to her niece, Miss Frances Starbuck, a June bride-elect.

The beautifully-appointed luncheon table was placed in a private dining room of the club. Ranging the length of the long table was a series of white pottery urns, filled with Dresden-dent garden flowers, including snapdragons, daisies, feverfew, roses, gladioli and sweet peas. Alternating with the urns were single pottery candlesticks holding tall yellow tapers which were caught with clusters of pastel-shaded sweet peas. The table was set with a white linen and a white tablecloth with a garland of asparagus fern, and the guests' places were marked by shoulder bouquets of fragrant sweet peas in the Dresden tin. The place cards were embossed in miniature bridal figures.

Assisting Mrs. Randall in receiving her guests were her mother, Mrs. W. R. McCarty, her lovely young daughter, Miss Helen Randall, and Mrs. John E. Starbuck, mother of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Alva McCarty was until her recent marriage Mrs. Elizabeth Klingenberg, of Chicago, Ill., and she is a charming addition to Atlanta society. Miss Starbuck's marriage to Charles Patton Jr., of Watertown, N. Y., will be an important event of Saturday, June 15.

Mrs. Randall invited 30 members of the younger married and unmarried contingents of society to meet her honor guests.

South dealt and bid one club; after West passed, North made a jump takeout of two hearts, which is forcing to game. East passed in turn, and South used a valuable tool in slam bidding—the jump trump rebid. Instead of merely bidding three clubs, South bid four clubs. This jump rebid shows a four-card or longer suit containing no more than one loser.

West passed, and North then bid four spades. This was an obvious cue bid, used to show control of the spade suit. North could not make a conventional four-trump bid, not having the king of any suit which had been bid by his side.

If East—like many players I have met—had become morose and despondent, he probably would have passed in a dolorous tone, leaving the field open to the enemy. But instead East doubled in firm tones.

This double means, "Partner, I have at least four cards of this suit, headed by king-queen or ace-jack or something else pretty strong. If your distribution prompts you to bid a slam, advisable, you may at least be assured of strong support in this suit." Thus, the double is a conventional bid rather than an attempt to penalize the opponents. It will be noticed that in this deal East could not even be sure of defeating a four-spade contract on the strength of his hand alone.

West took the hint; and though South went to five clubs, West bid five spades. North proceeded to the small slam in clubs, and West followed promptly with a six-spade bid. By this time North and South, not having the ace of diamonds, could do nothing more. They could only double.

The six-spade contract was set 800 points. This was a fine sacrifice, inasmuch as the slam bonus alone would have been worth 750 points to North-South, the rubber 500 points, the trick score below the line 120 points, and the four honors in South's hand 100 points more.

Mrs. Nelson Honors Chi Omegas At Steak Fry and Swimming Party

Mrs. Harry B. Nelson entertained at a steak fry and swimming party last evening at her home on Piedmont road, as a complimentary gesture to the active members of the Chi Omega sorority of Oglethorpe University. The party served as a final get-together before the chapter disbanded for the summer. Mrs. Nelson's only daughter, Mrs. Baxter Rains Jr., who was an active member of the Oglethorpe chapter, prior to her recent marriage, assisted her mother in entertaining. She is the former Miss Elinor Nelson. The Chi Omegas and their escorts assembled at the Nelson home at 6 o'clock for a swim in the lovely pool adjoining the garden at the rear of the house. Following the swim, the steak fry was held before the outdoor fireplace, which is an attractive feature of the garden.

The members of the chapter of Chi Omega include Miss Dora Bowden, president; Miss Eloise Polak, vice president; Miss Evelyn Wink, secretary; Miss Martha Sells, treasurer; Misses Virginia Toombs, Elizabeth Woolford, Martha Carmichael, Carol Moore, Sarah Barnes, Henrietta Gunn, Jerry Page, Dixie Woolford, Esther Crosby, Jane Crenshaw and Mrs. Baxter Rains Jr.

Nancy's gift box was holding more and more embroidered articles. For embroidery and needlework she had just made a sampler on which she put many of the filling and outline stitches.

In making the sampler Nancy was not attempting to work out any pattern, nor to arrange the stitches so they possessed a symmetry. Rather, she was attempting to group various kinds and to make just enough of them so that she could refer to them and choose suitable ones for her various gifts. For instance, she had a dresser scarf of fairly heavy, round thread cotton. On this she had worked a vine of leaves and tendrils. She has no design for it. But in making it she used some of the stitches shown in her leaflet.

Nervous Tension
In Middle Life

CARDUI is highly regarded by women for use during middle life (as well as in earlier years) when a good, purely vegetable nerve sedative is often needed. At the same time, Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, giving strength to the whole system and thereby helping women to stand periodic strains which nature has imposed.

"The change came very early with me and I was in a very nervous, run-down condition," writes Mrs. C. C. McCracken, of Clyde, N. C. "I did not rest until I took Cardui. I should rest in daytime, but felt such a tension I would just keep going. I had had so much of Cardui I decided to take it. I feel that Cardui did me more good than anything I had tried. I am very glad to recommend it to other nervous ladies."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit you, consult a physician.—(adv.)

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS No. 82

With the revolver in his ribs, Tommy Welsh had no choice but to surrender his beloved machine gun. "Now, where is Tarzan?" Boris Garetto demanded. "Don't know the guy," Tommy answered lightly. The brigand chieftain snarled: "You were with him today. You fired on my village."

"Who, me?" inquired Tommy innocently. "You got me wrong, mister. Tommy have been two other fellows. I been hunting all day. Now it's my turn to ask questions. What are you doing here? If it's a stickup, hop to it and get on your way. I'm tired of looking at your ugly mug."

Garetto, however, was interested mainly in information that would lead to the capture of Tarzan: but no threats could make Tommy "squel." "We'll take him back to the village," Nazir suggested with a sinister smile. After a few days there, I think I can find ways to make him talk!"

"Tie his hands," the bandit leader commanded gruffly. A few minutes later the sudden shifts mounted their horses and commanded their captive to walk ahead of them. "This is a fine way to treat a fellow," Tommy protested. "You take a guy for a ride—and you make him walk!"
